

ROCK ISLAND COUNTY TREASURY SAFE ROBBED

DRUG FOUND TO HAVE CAUSED MRS.
JNO. ZINKE'S END

An Inquest Into Death Of Former Dixon Woman
Held This Morn

(Telegraph Special Service)
Kewanee, Ill., June 10.—Coroner A. S. Young of Galva this morning conducted an inquest over the body of Mrs. Caroline Moellering Zinke, wife of John Zinke, formerly of Dixon, who passed away Wednesday night at 10 o'clock at the Public hospital while suffering from convulsions. The verdict of the jury was as follows:

"We, the jury, find that Mrs. Caroline Moellering Zinke came to her death from an overdose of an unknown drug, probably aspirin or some coal tar product, taken for the relief of headache."

Husband Questioned
Yesterday police questioned the woman's husband, John Zinke, with whom she is reported to have had considerable domestic trouble in recent years, and also several neighbors of the couple, but none was held in custody. A year ago, it was reported, Zinke left his wife but later returned home after she had instituted charges of non-support against him.

Mrs. Zinke had returned to her home from the business district only a few minutes before her two sons discovered her lying on a cot, writhing in pain. On a table near the bed police found a bottle which had contained 100 tablets of aspirin but in which there were only 87 tablets remaining. Examination of the body by a physician developed traces of strychnine and they were inclined to ascribe her death to poisoning from strychnine rather than because of an over-dose of aspirin, although no strychnine was found after a thorough search of the residence.

Suicide Theory
It was expressed as probable that the woman may have committed suicide, police pointing to her recent domestic difficulties as a basis for such a theory.

The late Mrs. Zinke was born on a farm about seven miles north of Peru, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Moellering, now deceased. She was married at Mendota to Mr. Zinke about 29 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, seven children, Robert, Arthur, Adam, Albert, Roy and John, at home, and Mrs. Helen Heckman of Dixon; two sisters, Miss Jennie Moellering of Peru, and Mrs. Siebert, formerly of Peru and now residing in Iowa; two brothers, John Moellering, of Chicago, and Grover Moellering of Rock Island.

Concert By Dixon
Band This Evening

The Dixon Civic band will present the first of a series of weekly open air concerts this evening starting at 8 o'clock at the Haymarket square. Eugene Leber and Robert Palmer will sing the chorus parts of popular numbers during the program.

The band commission is planning to hold next week's concert on the Peoria avenue bridge, which will be closed to traffic during the program. It is also planned to hold a concert in Dementown in the next few weeks, as soon as an appropriate place can be found.

Director Charles B. Price and the commission are planning to exchange concerts with the Kable Brothers band of Mt. Morris soon. The Dixon band will give a concert in the band shell at Mt. Morris while the famous Kable organization will exchange courtesies by giving a concert in Dixon, probably at the high school athletic field.

John J. Barge Is Laid To Final Rest

The remains of John J. Barge, member of a pioneer Dixon family, arrived in Dixon at noon Thursday and was taken to Oakwood cemetery where interment was made. Officers and members of Friendship Lodge, No. 7 A. F. and A. M. conducted the Masonic rites at the grave. Mr. Barge had been a member of the Masonic fraternity since 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Stanley Crum and family of Chicago, at whose home he passed away after an illness of one year's duration, Mrs. Elizabeth Barge Martin of Chicago, a son William of New York, Eugene Malloy of Chicago and Miss Mary Richards of Moline were present at the funeral, which was largely attended by former acquaintances from Dixon and vicinity.

Additional Uses
For Illinois Coal

Champaign, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—Dr. M. M. Leighton, director of the State Geological Survey, predicts new uses may be found for Illinois coal that would increase production in the state.

Addressing the Mineral Industries Committee of the state Chamber of Commerce last night, he said laboratory studies of Illinois coal now being made by the survey, although still incomplete, indicated promising results.

CONGRESS BUSY
ON TWO RELIEF
MEASURESTODAY

Senate Takes Up Democratic Jobless-Aid Proposals

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—For the second time this session, the Senate today tackled the problem of Federal relief for the unemployed as the Democratic $300,000,000 jobless aid bill was taken up for debate.

Early approval of the measure was forecast by Senate leaders as the program has been approved in principle by President Hoover. Controversial relief proposals were shoved to the background in order that the emergency relief measure might be speedily considered and passed.

The relief bill came up for debate under unanimous consent of the request of Senator Wagner of New York, chief sponsor.

Sensors Watson of Indiana and Borah of Idaho, leaders of the two Republican factions, agreed to its consideration.

The bill agreed to an amendment by Wagner under which the Reconstruction Corporation would be increased by $300,000,000 to provide the funds.

Increases Capital
At present the corporation has authority to issue $1,500,000 debentures on its $500,000,000 capital. The bill originally proposed to take the $500,000,000 out of the present funds. Under the amendment it would be raised by issuing additional debentures.

The House took up President Hoover's Home Loan Bill today amid expectations that it would be rushed to the Senate before nightfall.

This final action in the economic relief program of the Chief Executive is designed to give financial support to existing home-financing, thrift and savings institutions through a system of twelve to eight Home Loan Discount banks.

The objective is to save homeowners from threatened foreclosures and make possible much residential construction in underbuilt sections of the country.

With wide support in both chambers, Senate leaders were already counting upon House approval in time for them to take it up Monday.

Prisoner Found
Strangled In Camp

Jacksonville, Fla., June 10.—(AP)—Two prison camp officials were held here today on first degree murder charges in the death of Charles Maillefret, 19-year-old prisoner found strangled in a "sweat box."

A coroner's inquest placed responsibility for the death on Capt. C. W. Courson, in charge of a road camp near Sunbeam, and S. M. Higginbotham, a guard. The two men were ordered held without bond.

Death Sentence
Is Upheld Today

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—The death sentence passed upon Howard C. Bonham, Evansville, Indiana for the murder Dec. 13, 1930 of Paul Tulipan, waiter in a Chicago restaurant holdup was affirmed by the Supreme Court today. Bonham was sentenced to die June 17.

VETERANS RID THEIR CAMP OF
'RED' COMRADES

Segregate Communists Among Bonus Army: Drive Them Out

BULLETIN.
Cincinnati, O., June 10.—(AP)—Cincinnati city police today were ordered to eject from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yards here a group of from 600 to 700 ex-soldiers from Texas who came here today en route to Washington to demand payment of the soldiers' bonus. The orders were issued after railroad officials refused transportation to the "marchers."

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Irate veterans at the principal encampment of the bonus army last night served fresh notice that they would brook no Communist influence by expelling some 200 avowed Reds.

The group kicked out of the squalid makeshift village of the veterans was made up mostly of newcomers from Cleveland, Detroit and New York. They were singled out late last night as the camp commanders questioned the arriving contingents which poured in steadily at the rate of about 100 a hour.

Before possible violence could take place a detail of police, aided by ex-soldiers, marched the Communists half a mile or so to a vacant lot. Here a strong guard was maintained to prevent disorder. They were to be escorted out of town today.

Wheat Is Available
Representative Connelly (D. Mass.) told newspapermen today that James K. McClintock, vice chairman of the Red Cross, had advised him that if any local charity makes the request government wheat will be provided for feeding the bonus marchers.

Connelly said he had asked McClintock if the veterans would not come within provisions of the act which turned over to the Red Cross for relief purposes 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat.

"If any local charitable organization or the local chapter of the Red Cross makes application for some of this wheat, McClintock says it will be provided," Connelly said.

"Then it is up to the bakers to make the flour into bread. In many cities this has been done voluntarily."

Maid In Morrow's
Home Takes Life

Hackensack, N. J., June 10.—(AP)—Prosecutor George F. Losch announced today that Violet Sharp, a maid at the Morrow home in Englewood, who was questioned about the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby, had committed suicide by poison.

The prosecutor said the maid's body was found by a butler in a pantry on the first floor and that a bottle of poison was found in her room on the second floor. She had been with the Morrow family for about two years.

Detective Lieutenant Nathan Allyn said he believed Miss Sharp was to have been questioned today in connection with the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby. She had been questioned, State Police said, soon after the baby was stolen.

Dr. Raphael Gilady, Bergen County Physician, announced an autopsy would be performed later in the day.

None of the Morrow family could be reached for comment.

Cubs And Dodgers
In Battle Royal

Brooklyn, June 10.—(AP)—Members of the Chicago Cubs and the Brooklyn baseball team engaged in a fist fight in the first inning of today's game. The trouble started at second base when Bill Herman and Bill Jurgas attacked Mickey Finn.

Finn was knocked down by the two Chicago players before the other players and the umpires reached the scene of battle. The fight then developed into a battle royal with Managers Carey and Hornsby rushing to the aid of Umpires Klem and Reardon in an effort to separate the players.

Judges and Finn were banished from the game while Herman was permitted to remain in the game. The ill feeling between the players is said to have started yesterday when the Dodgers accused Pat Malone, Cub pitcher of "dusting" them off, and Lopez, Brooklyn catcher went into second base high spiking Jurgas above the knee.

Women's Federation
For Bone Dry Plank

Seattle, Wash., June 10.—(AP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention here today, voted 582 to 13 in favor of a bone dry plank in both the Republican and Democratic national platforms. This has been the traditional attitude of the organization.

"Wild Bill" Hallahan, left-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, tied the major league record for wild pitches in one inning with three in a game this afternoon.

THREE DRUNKEN
CONVICTS RIOT
AT STATEVILLE

Intoxicated On Cell-made Concoction Of Potent Power

Joliet, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—Three convicts were in the Stateville prison hospital today, one with a fractured skull and the others bruised in a drunken fight that nearly ended with the storming of the administration building.

Capt. C. R. Green was badly beaten before fellow guards came to his rescue. A quick call for guards and guns from the arsenal quelled a bunch of prisoners in the yard toward the penitentiary office.

News of the outbreak, which occurred late yesterday, was withheld until today by Warden Henry C. Hill.

William "Dutch" Emerling, 36, and Edward Piech, 25, both gunmen sent up from Cook county for one-year-to-life terms for robbery, were the ringleaders. Drunk from consuming a cell-made concoction of fermented canned peaches, raw potatoes and yeast, they attacked a fellow prisoner, William Montgomery of Cook county, and beat him severely. Montgomery had turned over to the prison officers several saws he found in a tunnel near Cellhouse E.

The pair started toward another convict when Capt. Green took them in custody. As he led them through the prison yard they set upon him and pummeled him. To the rescue came Walter Neistheimer, Assistant Warden; Capt. William Rossbacher and J. A. Jackson, a guard. The two embattled convicts were beaten into submission with clubs and Piech received a skull fracture.

While the disturbance was going on other convicts in the yard started to rush the administration building but the alarm brought reinforcements and the prisoners withdrew. No shots were fired.

Paint Standards
Of Street Signs

All of the steel posts supporting the new street marking signs have been treated to a coat of shiny black paint. The work was completed in record time by ten men, heads of families who are appreciative of the support of the Dixon Goodfellows and volunteered their services yesterday to Commissioner of Streets John H. Loftus. The Commissioner asked for ten men to report at the city hall at 7 o'clock Thursday morning and twice that number were present.

A crew of ten men was selected and furnished with brushes and paint. Some of the workers completed the district assigned to them by noon and others with larger territories completed their painting during the afternoon with the result that all of the posts in the city were painted with labor donated by the Goodfellow organization, the workers being eager to do this time to provide food and clothing for the needy families.

Ind. Legionnaire
Heads Rep. Slate

Indianapolis, June 10.—(AP)—Raymond S. Springer of Connersville, as nominee for Governor, will head a Republican slate ticket in the approaching campaign committed to a platform advocating resubmission of the prohibition question and repeal of the Wright "bone dry" law.

A landslide that developed on the fifth ballot at the Republican state convention here yesterday, swept to victory the former County Judge who was the last of eight candidates to enter the gubernatorial contest.

Springer, regarded as a liberal on the prohibition question, was the first Commander of the Indiana American Legion, and is Republican Chairman of the Tenth Congressional district.

Open Conference
On Miners' Wages

Chicago, June 10.—(AP)—Illinois coal diggers and mine owners came back to Chicago today to reopen efforts at adoption of a wage scale agreement that would put 45,000 idle miners back to work in the state.

Leaders of the miners' union and the coal operators met with Gov. Louis L. Emmerson at Springfield yesterday and after hearing his urgent appeal for an early settlement of the wage differences, promised to cooperate and agreed to meet here today.

The miners have been out of work since last March when operations were suspended because a conference over a new wage scale reached an impasse here.

City Of Macomb Is Ordered To Pay Up

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—(AP)—Contention of counsel for the City of Macomb that a "night policeman" is not a "policeman" within the meaning of state statutes, failed today to gain a rehearing for the city of the compensation case due to death of Night Policeman J. Edward Whitley.

Compensation was ordered paid to the policeman's widow.

MILITANT DRY TO PAY VISITS TO SPEAKEASIES
Dr. Wilson Has Accepted Invitation Of Crusaders

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Just to see "what exists" Dr. True Wilson, a militant dry, will make a tour soon of Chicago speakeasies as a guest of the Crusaders, one of the nation's most active anti-prohibition organizations.

Dr. Wilson, head of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, said with a smile today, that he would see his first speakeasy on the tour which he expects to make "within a week or so" when he goes to Chicago.

The invitation was extended by Captain Fred G. Clarke, National Commander of the Crusaders, with whom Dr. Wilson debated prohibition at Chicago Wednesday night.

Dr. Wilson added that Chicago papers had misconstrued his praise of Clark and the Crusaders and apparently were quoting him as "going over to the Crusaders."

"Such is far from the truth," he added. "I did say, and I think that the Crusaders are fair, and the most constructive organization of the anti-prohibition groups."

Byrd Is Planning Second Expedition
Boston, June 10.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd plans a second Antarctic expedition—this one for the purpose of studying more closely the territory of Marie Byrd Land and to elaborate on scientific data gained previously.

The expedition would leave Boston early in the fall and would remain in the Antarctic the greater part of two years.

The tractor will take its place in the scheme of things alongside the sled dog and the airplane.

The expedition, as planned, is smaller than the first, experience having assisted Byrd in planning a more compact outfit.

SARAZEN MAKES RECORD SCORES
IN BRITISH OPEN

American Golfer Beat Bobby Jones' Mark To Win Tourney

Sandwich, England, June 10.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, long hitting American golf star, today won the British open golf championship with a record score of 283 to carry on an American golfing sweep, in the event unbroken since 1923.

The 1922 American open champion scored his 283, two strokes under Bobby Jones' winning total of 1927, early in the afternoon and then watched those who had a chance to catch him, fade away under the pressure of having to shot sub-par golf.

Sarazen has been well up in the British open field for several years finishing second to Walter Hagen in 1928 at the neighboring Royal St. George's course for his best effort up to today.

It was the 11th American victory in 12 successive years of the blue ribbon event of golf, the only break being Arthur Havers' victory in 1923, when Hagen finished second.

It was Havers who was the threat to Sarazen as he shot a 68 on his third round to pull up within four strokes of the flying American. The British pro faltered in his final nine, however, making the turn in 37 to lose two more strokes to Gene and when he started home 4-4-5 his last chance was gone.

Tommy Armour, the defending champion from Detroit, faded badly on the final round with his hopes of victory gone, and finished with an 81 for a 72-hole total of 300.

Broke U. S. Record
Sarazen's fine score bettered not only the British record but was three strokes better than the best winning total in the American open, Charles (Chick) Evans' 286, at Minneapolis in 1916.

MacDonald Smith, other member of the American "big three" had the heartbreaking experience of scoring a 288 for a total good enough to have won all but the current British championship and the 1927 event. Smith, a native of Carnoustie, Scotland, has been striving for years to win the British title and although always up in the running has always been just a little shy of championship play.

First prize in the British is $100 about $360 at the current rate of exchange and not even enough to pay Sarazen's steamer fare, but the prestige that goes with the title probably will mean at least $50,000 to the American professional.

Havers finished with a 76 and a 72-hole total of 289, leaving MacDonald Smith alone in second place.

Charles Whitcombe had 292, Percy Allis 292 and W. H. Davies 293, those being the three closest to the pacemakers at the end of the third round.

Europe On Verge Of Great Events

London, June 10—(AP)—News-papers reports that Prime Minister MacDonald would propose a ten to fifteen year armistice at Geneva next week were dismissed by a high government official today as "pure speculation."
 All sorts of rumors are current about the government's intentions, he said, but not one of them has any authoritative basis.
 There was no attempt, however, to disguise the fact that Great Britain believes Europe to be on the verge of developments of the greatest importance.
 The British government welcomes the suggestion in a recent speech by Premier Herriot of France that he is prepared to take immediate and drastic action to help clear up the economic tangle.
 It was hoped that Mr. MacDonald's views regarding the necessity for disarmament might find more enthusiastic support from France than heretofore.

Who was Who?

By LOUISE M. COMSTOCK

LITTLE JACK HORNER

LITTLE JACK HORNER, whose manners when eating his Christmas pie have scandalized more carefully brought up children for some generations now, has proved an even more scandalous child to the historians who have recently delved into his past. Horner, like many of the ditties in the famous Mother Goose collection, is based on a real story.

Jack Horner, later Sir John Horner and ancestor of the family even today living at Meli's park, Somersetshire, England, was steward to Bishop Whiting, the famous abbot of Glastonbury cathedral prior to the days of King Henry VIII. When Henry broke with the pope and began his devastation of the rich monasteries of England, he demanded that Bishop Whiting turn over to him the title deeds to various valuable church estates. The bishop had the valuable papers concealed beneath a fake pie crust and entrusted them for delivery to his steward. But young Mr. Horner, so runs the legend, being less innocent in real life than in the poem in which he sat so demurely in his corner, opened up the crust and route and extracted the title deed to Meli's park for himself. A Christmas plum indeed! The fact that the king later knighted Jack Horner might indicate that this story is fiction, and that the "plum" was in reality a royal gift bestowed on that occasion (© 1932, Western Newspaper Union.)

Meant to Clean Politics

The Colorado two-bit campaign fund scheme was a proposal to do away with political corruption through use of money. In 1900 the Colorado legislature passed a law providing that the state treasury should turn over to the chairman of each party a sum equal to 25 cents for each vote cast at the last election for the nominee of each party for governor. Half the sum could be used for campaign expenses in the state campaign, the remainder being apportioned among the counties. Each candidate was permitted to contribute a sum not to exceed 40 per cent of the first year's salary of the position he was seeking. Any other contribution from anyone constituted a felony. Although this two-bit law was widely hailed at the time, it never became operative. The Colorado Supreme court held it unconstitutional to use state funds for partisan purposes.—Washington Star.

THE HILLS FOREVER

I AM growing out of childhood. I have drunk the cup of youth. I have left the hills forever—And I sadden at the truth.

The grasses on the hilltop
Do not whisper as I pass,
The sunset no longer thrills me—
As in the days of a dreamy lass.

The twilight leaves me lonely.
Chimes of evening have no song,
I have left the hills forever,
And the thrill is gone.

Miss Jones, Ligouri Welch Will Wed

Mrs. Celia Jones, 204 Ottawa avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Winnifred Jones, to Ligouri Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Welch of Deer Grove. Both are decidedly popular young people with hosts of friends. The wedding will take place this summer.

The announcement was made at a bridge luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Jones home. Pink and white was the dainty color combination for the delightful luncheon. Both employed with tallies and favors harmonizing.

Present at the luncheon as out of town guests were three cousins of Miss Jones, Mrs. Robert Lasher, Mrs. Harry Osborn, and Miss Frances Jones, of Elgin; Miss Edith Vaughan of Amboy, and Miss May Welch of Sterling, sister of Ligouri, were out of town guests.

Miss Edith Vaughan was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge, and Miss Lois Coppins was awarded the second favor; while Mrs. Earl James was awarded the out prize.

Household Time Savers Observed

Hours are lost out of many households by hunting for keys, screws to the screen door and other little things.

Just a little care spares you this fuss and worry and lost time. For instance, take a piece of string and tie the hot-water bottle top to the handle so you never can mislay it.

You may have been fortunate in always knowing where the top was. Others have had to hunt! Keep one drawer for all kinds of house bills and receipts. In time you will automatically put bills in there without ever having to wonder what apron pocket you tucked it into or under hat jar you put it for safe keeping.

Every key in your house should be tagged. It takes only a little time. But, instead of having to go through two dozen keys to open your trunk, you know immediately what one to use. More-over, keep them all in one place or on one peg and you'll never have to hunt.

Meeting Nachusa Live Wire 4-H Club

The Nachusa Live Wire 4-H Club met at the home of their leader, Miss Dorothy Gonnerman, on Wednesday, June 8.

The meeting was called to order by the club president, and a short business meeting followed.

The report of the Program Committee was then given and Evelyn Shippert lead the discussion on "Making a Clothing Budget."

Ethel Shippert played a piano solo.

The girls worked hard all the remainder of the afternoon, putting and basting their undergarments which are to be completed before the next meeting.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, June 12.

Bread and Butter
Asparagus Salad
Strawberry Sponge Cake
Coffee

(Milk for the Children)

Fried Chicken, Serving 6

2 young chickens

1 teaspoon salt

1-4 teaspoon paprika

1-2 cup flour

6 tablespoons fat

2 tablespoons butter

1-3 cup water

Thoroughly clean and wash the chickens. Soak 5 minutes in cold water. Let drain and wipe dry.

Sprinkle with salt, paprika, and flour. Heat fat in frying pan.

When hot, add and quickly brown chicken. Lower fire and add rest of ingredients. Cover and cook 30 minutes. Turn chicken several times to allow even browning. If gravy is desired it can be made after chicken has been removed from pan.

Mix 4 tablespoons of flour with drippings left in the cooking pan. Mix well and add 1 cup of milk and 1 cup of water. Stir constantly and cook 2 minutes.

Strawberry Sponge Cake

4 egg yolks

1 cup sugar

3 tablespoons cold water

1 teaspoon lemon extract

1-8 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons corn starch

7-8 cup pastry flour

1-4 teaspoon baking powder

4 egg whites, beaten

Beat yolks and add sugar and water. Beat 2 minutes. Fold in remaining ingredients and mix lightly. Pour into 2 cake pans lined with waxed papers. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Add berry mixture.

Berry Mixture

4 cups berries

1 cup sugar

1 cup whipped cream

Wash and hull berries. Add sugar and chill. Crush berries and add portions to one of baked cake layers. Cover with other layer and top with rest of berries. Spread with cream and serve. Pain cream can be served with cake in place of whipped cream.

Gold Prospecting In Street Banned

Melbourne, Vic.—Mining is not the only method of searching for gold in Bendigo. Some enterprising treasure-hunters recently found that the dust from a suburban street contained payable gold.

Two young men aroused interest in Eaglehawk, a Bendigo suburb when they began vigorously sweeping the surface of Caldwell's Road with hard brooms. They swept the dust into heaps, shoveled it into barrels, and wheeled it away to an old dam, where they tipped it into a "cradle" and shook it till golden specks appeared.

Far from appreciating the fact that the road was being swept beautifully clean, however, the borough authorities sent along a policeman, who seized the brooms, the barrows, and "cradle" and the gold dust on the ground that the sweeping was removing the surface of the road, involving civic expense for repairs.

So now Caldwell's Road will get dusty again, and what remains of its golden treasure will be left undisturbed.

Luncheon Thursday At Keller Home Honors Ten Cousins

A very enjoyable affair was the luncheon given Thursday by Mrs. Mark Keller, at which time she entertained ten cousins. The guest of honor was Mrs. Minnie Fox of Butler, Mo. Others present were:

Marguerite Richardson, here for the summer vacation from her school duties at Garden City, Kas. Mrs. Mary Tennant and Mrs. Lizzy Grey, Amboy; Mrs. Nellie Bie-secker and daughter Mary Grace of Lee Center; Mrs. Millie Richardson, Miss Amy Richardson, Mrs. Alida Messer and Mrs. Minnie Holt of Dixon. Lovely spring flowers graced the table for the daintily appointed luncheon. A pleasing feature of the occasion was a guessing contest, with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Messer and Miss Bie-secker. The cousins parted after a happy afternoon together, expressing to Mrs. Keller their appreciation of her hospitality. Several pictures of the cousins were taken during the afternoon.

ENTHUSIASM: CURSE AND BLESSING.

A 19-year-old Chicago boy had dreamed of becoming an aviator. Not long ago he found out that the family finances would make it impossible. So he committed suicide, leaving a note in which he remarked that "death is better than a life of monotony."

Of suicide, unfortunately, there is never a scarcity; and every now and then we have one like this, in which some pitifully misguided youth thinks his life has lost all of its savor and to destroys it. And a tragedy of this kind is always a puzzler, for youth seems to have every reason to live—until we stop and remember how very, very dark the sky of a 19-year-old can seem, on occasion.

The youngster of 19 has the most priceless of all gifts—enthusiasm. But this gift has a catch to it. The enthusiasm of 19 has away of draining itself out very suddenly and leaving bleak emptiness behind; and that emptiness can be very hard to bear.

This boy's tragedy is typical. An older person can realize that while being an aviator may be the best of all possible callings, life can still be made supportable if one has to find his fortune in some other field. But it is harder for 19 to see that; harder, because when you're in your teens you haven't yet learned how to give things up philosophically.

That's after all, is about all there is to growing up. One learns that most of the bright dreams of youth can never be realized, and one also learns that it doesn't really matter so very much, after all. It's a mortal hard lesson, and some of us never quite get reconciled to it; but we do learn it, after a fashion, and we can watch our old dreams drift over the horizon and go to find substitutes as best we can.

Youth, though, hasn't yet learned that. It has the ability to live in and for a dream, but when one dream goes it often has a hard time finding a new one. And so, once in a while, youth destroys itself, for what seems to us an absurdly insufficient reason; and we are reminded that the enthusiasm of youth can be a curse as well as a blessing.

THE SENATE TAX BILL.

Now that the Senate has finally passed an adequate tax bill, a good many people are raising their voices to ask why in the name of good government the job took such a long, long time.

The obvious reply, of course, is that the Senate is an unwieldy body cursed by politics, and that the delay was chiefly a matter of sheer inefficiency and partisan obstructionism. But that hardly tells the whole story.

It would be more nearly right to say that the Senate went slowly because it reflected the confusion of the country at large. There is no sign that the mass of citizens have at any time been in agreement on any phase of the taxation measure. A score of plans have been advanced, each enjoying wide support. The Senate had to choose among them—and, really, when all is said and done it did a pretty fair job.

AN ENCOURAGING STAGE.

The argument between President Hoover and Speaker Garner over the latter's proposal for federal unemployment relief marks a new stage of the discussion of the problem.

Until comparatively recently, the main issue at Washington was, Shall the federal government spend money to relieve the situation or shall it leave the entire problem up to the states, the cities and private charity?

Now it seems to be taken for granted that federal funds are to be used. We are witnessing, now, not an argument about whether the job is to be done, but an argument about how it is to be done. This is encouraging. Details of the different plans may vary profoundly; but at least all hands seem to be agreed that some sort of plan must be passed.

If the war incendiaries manage to push Japan into an anti-Soviet adventure then Japanese imperialism will appear before the whole world as a frank and insolent blood-thirsty beast of prey, and this would be of no small weight in the scale of our victory. It has cost the Lutheran church $50,000 for each heathen converted to the faith in Africa.—Dr. Clarence Miller of the Lutheran church.

We all make mistakes from time to time, naturally, so it's inevitable that we should make matrimonial errors, too.—Dorothy Mackaill, movie actress.

One-half of the penal population of the United States is composed of persons under 26 years of age.—Elias Tobenkin, penologist, New York.

We have been stripped of many material things, but the best remain—love, the pursuit of truth, home, friends, sympathy, beauty of nature.—Dr. Frank S. C. Wicks, Unitarian minister, Indianapolis.

You Would Hardly Know the Goddess, Now That She's Been Given a Facial, a Manicure and New Jewelry

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

New York—It wasn't that Miss Liberty had grown ashamed of her age. Forty-seven isn't so old, anyway, for a Goddess.

But not even a Goddess holding a torch over Bedloe's Island and New York harbor can stand aloof from changing ideas. So Miss Liberty wanted to be modernized a bit. A face lift, a manicure, some new jewelry and a little patching of her weather-beaten robe seemed quite in order.

For a long time her Uncle Sam had been strangely inattentive. Not until 1924 was she even officially declared a national monument. Last year, when there was a hint of moisture in the neglected lady's 30-inch eyes, and a suspicion of a tremble about her 3-foot lips, Congress appropriated $50,000 for any little trinkets or beauty treatments she might need.

Brighter Than Ever
So now Miss Liberty is resplendent as never before. A few more finishing touches here and there and she'll be as strong as the day she first took up her torch. And glittering—why, they can even see her from Rum Row!

Her pointed crown is now a light-jeweled diadem. Her torch is brighter. Her huge stone pedestal, actually a remodeled fortress, gleams whitely after its stream bath and boasts, inside, a new elevator, new stair treads, bronze rails.

As for her face and figure, the bright floodlights that have been installed are actually flattering. Until recently, Miss Liberty seemed to have a double chin, and the shadows cast by her 4½ feet nose made her cheeks, at night look drawn and hollow. All that has been remedied by better illumination, especially by some spotlights pointed downward from the under side of her torch.

Lights Now Automatic
The Goddess' closest friend is William A. Simpson, veteran superintendent of the monument. He and his four assistants have guided millions of tourists to the elevator and then up the 168 steps to the head, and he is glad that intermediate landings now have been installed for the timid and the short-of-breath.

"A few more days and everything will be shipshape for many years to come," said Simpson. "New windows have been put into the crown, and the lighting system is all in order. I used to have to turn on the lights myself, but now they're controlled by a clockwork arrangement that even compensates for the lengthening or shortening of the days. And we've filled up that hollow made by the drapery where tourists used to throw cigarette stubs."

But No Bath
"No, we're not going to give the

H. R. HORTON, EDITOR OF THE DEL RIO, (TEXAS) EVENING NEWS, SAYS:

THAT any manufacturer, merchant or shopkeeper is a fool if he cannot absorb a lesson from experience that should teach him the non-advertiser is the first to crash in any depression.

It is not a difficult task for the small town merchant to check his Main Street business houses and discover for himself the number of advertising firms going out of business, and to compare with the number of non-advertisers who have hit the skids.

A merchant who refuses to live newspaper advertising a fair trial is, in nine out of ten cases, the merchant who would not add a new line to his stock of merchandise on the ground that he has struggled along for forty years without it.

A newspaper can be no better than the town it serves and a man's business is comparably no more progressive than his advertising.

statue a bath. It never has been washed, except by rain, since the day it was put up. Most folks like the green color. Even if we were to clean it the metal would oxidize again and turn green right away."

Some suggestions for modernizing Miss Liberty have gone a bit too far. An association of hair-dressers, for instance, thought a shingle bob would be better than her old coiffure. And a Swiss watchmaker, grown rich in this country, offered to fit her up with a wrist watch. The Secretary of War wrote a very serious letter about this. After due consideration he decided it might be a little incongruous.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

BALANCING THE BUDGET

NATIONALLY AND SOCIALLY
Budgetary (budgeting) should be made a slogan because that is all we have been reading in the daily papers. Over the radio great speeches have been built around the subject, and commonplace conversations stress the importance of balancing the budget. Nationally, it means operating the government with its different departments within a given sum with an income raised thru taxation to meet that sum. There has been so much baloney about it that it should be made a campaign slogan by the major parties as conclusive proof that they have been efficient and faithful to the American public by giving their time and efforts in balancing it.

Nationally, we have had a major portion of the monies of the world, but our Pseudo American politicians and financiers have seen fit in the past few years to loan a good portion to the different countries of Europe to save them from financial ruin, in some cases without security, at a very low rate of interest over a term of years to suit the borrower. This has made the American dollar so plentiful in Europe that it has at present time raised a suspicion of its value and today our American dollar with its defiant eagle upon it, is being discounted. This is an unusual condition I would say, but Europe "has balanced its budget."

Where does Dixon, Illinois fit into the picture? Well, the monies that business needs to operate and expand is in Europe, therefore, money is scarce and security high. Once they only wanted your right arm as security, now you are lucky if you can get it with your left with an eye thrown in. Consequently, unemployment follows. Prices are low, but our means of obtaining what we need and use has decreased in proportion to the scarcity of money and the high rate of interest and security. Home owners find it impossible to pay their taxes and farmers must default upon their mortgages.

In Dixon also, we have 160 merchants who own and operate their businesses. We will define them as independents. They depend upon the patronage of the people in and around this community. This group of independent merchants own outside of their regular businesses 400 distinct and separate properties, homes, store buildings, farms, cottages, and building lots. Upon every one of these properties there is a needed and necessary repair and improvement to be made, conservatively estimated from $200 to $2,000. The owners of these properties want to make this improvement. Our contractors, tradesmen, and laboring men are just as anxious this improvement be made. In turn they would improve their own holdings, starting a ball rolling, locally, that would increase in size as it went on, like an avalanche.

This in turn would effect every man, woman, and child, in this community. School teachers would not have a salary cut, our city employees would not be laboring under the same threat, county and state men could maintain the even tenor of their wages, lawyers would be paid for their services, doctors receive compensation for their calls, and ministers would not operate in the red. Credit would be stabilized, and there would be no run on banks. The hammer and the trowel would ring, the saw buzz. The workman's song would be heard and every toiler have a happy smile.

This is the picture as I begin to see it. If your 160 Independent Merchants in Dixon were supported by the citizens and people that are directly affected and benefited by every dime they spend there would be no need for the welfare station nor any person unemployed in our community, every

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynymites were tickled ping said happy Duncy. "Gee, to thing that we are going to have a ride in a big parade."

"We will sit upon this wagon, high, and wave at folks as we pass by tonight we will be dragging of the hit that we naturally made."

Just then they heard a bugle blow and scouts shouted "Here we go! The parade is starting from the grounds. Say! When do we fill in?"

"Don't worry," said a man, nearby. "Just sit real quiet, lads and I will turn and wave my hand when it is your turn to begin."

And so the Tynies sat real still. It really was a wondrous thrill to see the sparkling horses pass, with wagons painted bright. Soon Scouty said, "Unless I am wrong, this great parade is very long. If anyone stands up to see it all, they'll stand all night."

"Oh, your imagination is very strong," said Windy. "I am sure you are wrong. We'll only stretch a dozen blocks." A man then shouted, "Hey!"

"Fill in there Tynymites. And you will have some fun from something new." The Tynies wagon creaked a bit and they were on their way.

Along the streets of the small town the Tynies rode, each one a funny little clown. The grownups looked and laughed at them. The kids began to roar.

Said Coppy, "Well, it is worth our while to make the little youngsters smile." The parade kept moving till it landed at the grounds once more.

The Tynies jumped down to the ground and when we Duncy turned around he saw an elephant and said, "I know what I will try."

"I'll take a ride upon his big trunk. I hope I don't fall down, kerplunk!" In just about a moment he was lifted "way up high."

(The Tynies have some more fun with the elephant in the next story.)

Individual who desires to make a living by his own efforts would have the opportunity to do so. The balancing of the budget brings us right back to Dixon. We have got to keep our profits right at home because its effects every one of us. Happy to say right now that I am not a merchant, but his fight is my fight, whether he goes I will go. His predicament is my predicament, and his end will be my end.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Wealth, after all, is a relative thing, since he that has little and wants less, is richer than he that has much but wants more. True contentment depends not upon what we have.

—Colton

It was with good reason that God commanded through Moses that the vineyard and harvest were not to be gleaned to the last grape or grain. For covetousness is never to be satisfied; the more it has, the more it wants.

—Martin Luther

The wealth of a man is the number of things which he loves and blesses, which he is loved and blessed by.

—Carlyle

Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have; for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.

—Hebrews 13

The loneliest endeavor to realize and to be content with the qualities and gifts of God brings into experience such improved health and prosperity, such happiness and peace, that all possibility of covetousness is forever destroyed, and one finds that such things as one has filled his days with joyous work and gratitude.

May Be Cuba's President

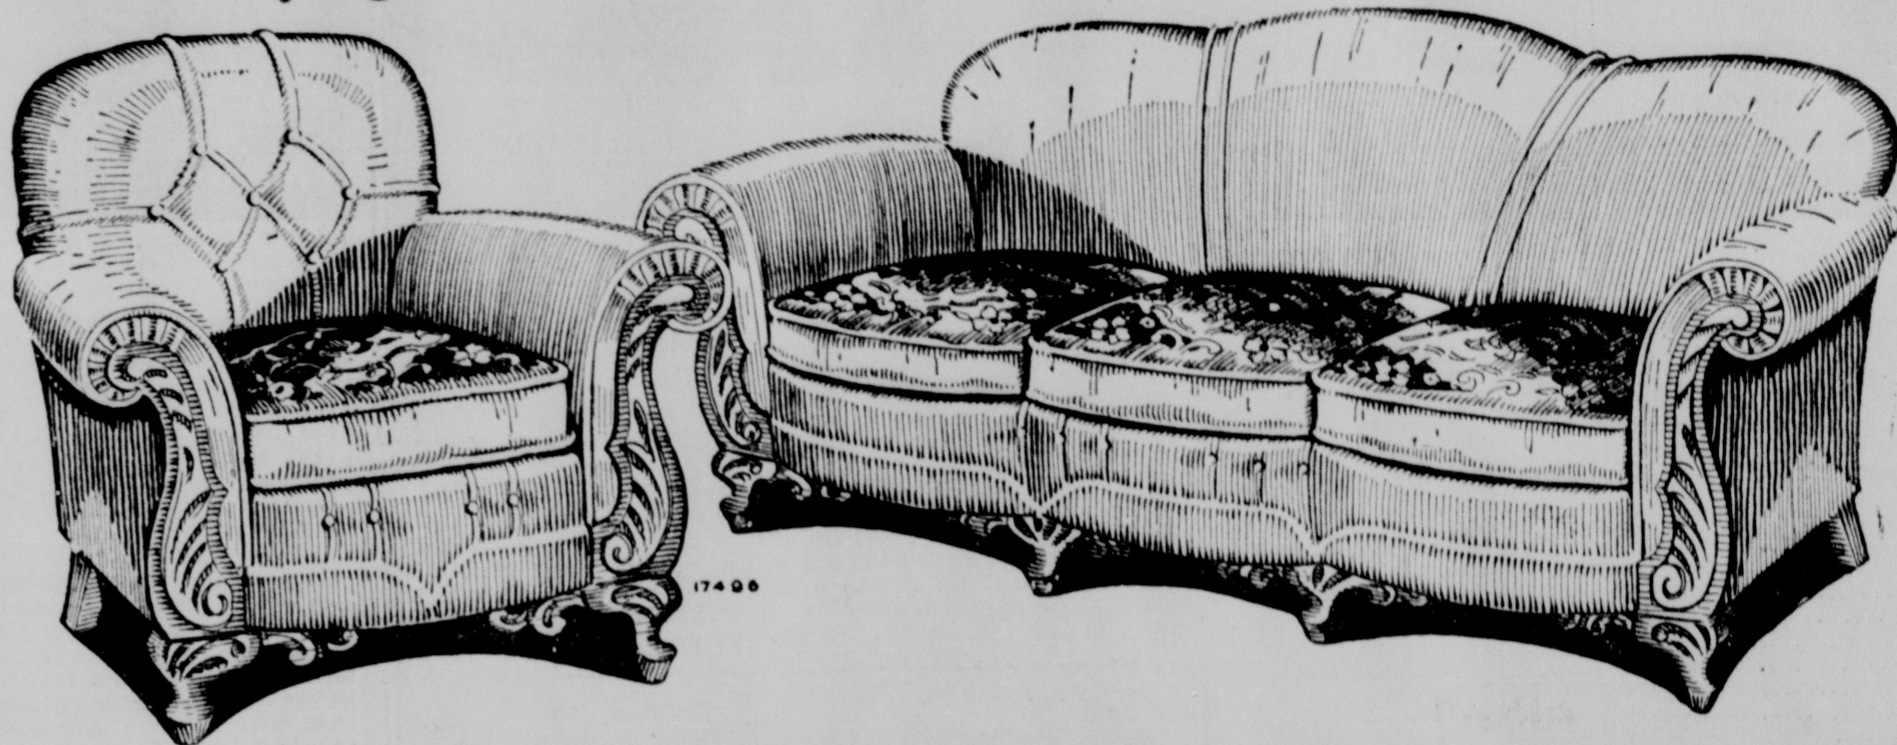

Well-informed political circles in Havana assert that appointment of Dr. Orestes Ferrara as Cuba's secretary of state portends the resignation soon of President Gerardo Machado. Under Cuban law the secretary of state succeeds to the presidency when that office becomes vacant. Observers believe President Machado will step aside by July 1 when a payment of $7,000,000 on Cuba's foreign indebtedness is due. It is said that Ferrara is considered an acceptable ad interim president, although his Italian birth bars him from candidacy at the regular election scheduled for Jan. 1. Picture shows Dr. and Mrs. Ferrara.

Do You Remember

One Year Ago Today — Maurice Orcutt, American woman golfer, and Miss Diana Fiswick, defending champion, were eliminated in the third round of play in the British Women's Golf championships at Portmarnock, Ireland. Miss Elsie Corlett defeated Miss Orcutt 4 and 3. Miss Dorothy Funn won from Miss Fiswick on the 19th green.

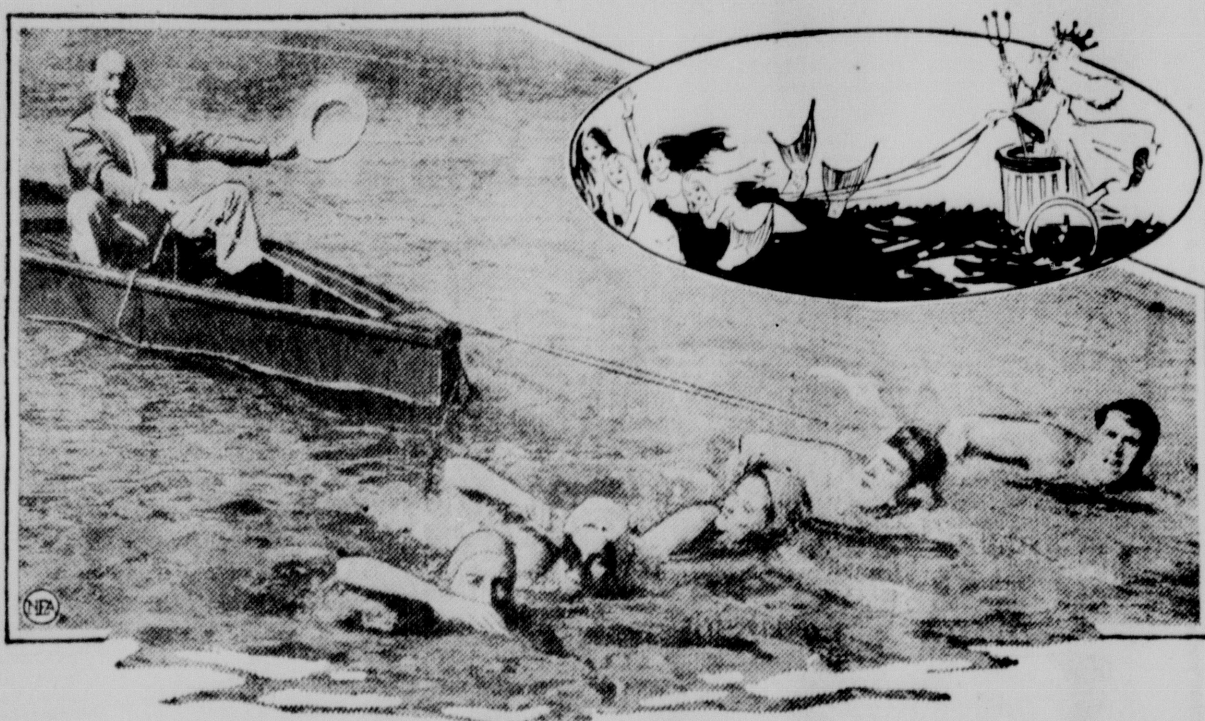

Five Years Ago Today — Helen Willis used up only 23 minutes in trouncing Mrs. Mollie Mallory, American champion, 6-0 and 6-1, to gain the finals of the Kent tennis championships at Beckenham, England.

Ten Years Ago Today — R. T. Wilson, Jr., Pillory, winner of the Prekness, galloped off with the 53rd renewal of the $50,000 Belmont stakes at Belmont park. Pillory's time for the mile and three furlongs was 2:18.

NIX ON NICKEL

Tacoma, Wash. — John Dawson is glad he wasn't carrying much money with him. He was parked with a girl friend when two bandits approached him and demanded his cash. Dawson dug into his pockets and handed it over. The bandits counted it and handed it back in disgust. It was a lone nickel.

Coach Hitches His Wagon to the Stars

Hairpins Long in Use

Hairpins have been used by women of all ages, and even by men. The fashion is supposed to have originated in Asia. The primitive hairpin consisted of a single pin with an ornamental head. There is in the British museum a gold hairpin dating back to the Homeric age, about the eighth century B. C. The hairpin probably assumed its present form when the fashion of wearing curls close to the head came in.

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

A great deal of comment has followed the decision of Bill Harbridge, president of the American League, in the Moriarty-White Sox brawl. The facts seem to be that Umpire Moriarty was gazed by several of the Sox after he had challenged them all under the grandstand after a game at Cleveland, and after he had knocked Pitcher Milt Gaston for a loop.

The decision was for Gaston, $500 fine and 10 days; for Manager Lew Fonseca, one of the party, $500 fine; for Catcher Charley Berry, $250 fine and for Catcher Frank Grube, $100 fine. The umpire, who broke his hand hitting Gaston, was reprimanded.

REFER TO BAN—

Nearly all the comment goes back to "what old Ban Johnson would have done" in similar circumstances. Mr. Johnson was a great one for "standing back of" umpirical authority. Johnson's umpires were czars on the ball field. Ban made their word supreme, and in any case involving played and umpire, the player got the worst of it.

Ban Johnson probably would have demanded removal of Fonseca as manager. The others probably would have been suspended from 30 to 90 days and fined their season's salaries, or something like that.

TOO FAR BACK?

The criticism is that Mr. Harbridge, in meeting out light rebukes to the players and the reprimand to Moriarty, is standing a little too far back of his umpires and that his decision betrays their authority. Seeing what the White Sox got away with, players will be tempted to take liberties with the arbiters. In the future, knowing it won't cost much.

An umpire, of course, should have authority. Players are supposed to abide by his decisions. Players must be given to understand they are to honor and obey. If not to love, their arbiters. In cases where they do not honor and obey the man, the umpire has power to order them off the field and to fine them for conduct unbecoming.

YANKEE DAVIS

CUP TEAM WILL PLAY IN MATCH

Are Entered In Tennis Tourney At Wimbledon "On Own"

New York, June 10—(AP)—Not only Ellsworth Vines, but all the other members of the American Davis Cup team will compete in the British tennis championships at Wimbledon, it became known today.

Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, it was understood, have booked passage on the Europa leaving here next Tuesday, and will arrive in England just before the championships open, Monday, June 20.

It was understood these three stars were not being sent as official representatives of the United States Lawn Tennis Association but were going "on their own."

The American team needed only one more victory to clinch the American interzone finals with Brazil, now in progress at Forest Hills.

Shields and Allison won both of yesterday's opening matches and one more victory, either in doubles today or in the closing singles encounters Saturday, automatically would give the United States the right to play the European zone finalist at Auteuil, later this summer.

Brazil uncovered a formidable singles player in the person of Ricardo Pernambuco who carried Shields to four hard sets before surrendering at 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

becoming gentlemen and ball players.

HIS OWN BEST AUTHORITY—

Mr. Moriarty did not choose to exercise the authority designated. He depended upon his own authority, the good old Moriarty maulers.

In the game after which the brawl occurred, Moriarty had several chances to chase Cather out of his vested authority. Instead he "rode" Berry verbally. And not only Berry, but other White Sox players who chose to argue with him.

After the game he tarried, waiting for the Sox to come along. It appears that George was pining for a battle. He offered to take on all the White Sox, one by one. Milt Gaston, more impetuous than the others, responded to the challenge. Moriarty knocked him cold.

If they had kept coming to him one by one, he probably could have knocked them all cold for Mr. Moriarty has great strength, despite his 47 years. But the boys forgot they were ball players; the mob instinct asserted itself, and they swarmed upon the man.

UNPRECEDENTED—

Ball players do not fight that way. There is no other case on record where a mob of ball players attacked an umpire. It is history that differences between umpire and player always have been settled man to man. But Moriarty does not complain of being mobbed. He can take it, man or mob, without a whimper. A mob meant to him just a little more business.

Mr. Harbridge makes the point that Moriarty could have avoided the trouble easily. Whatever he chose to invite upon himself, over and above the authority the league gave him, was more or less his own business.

Harbridge's decision makes it plain the league is not standing back of umpires who are piling for a brawl.

And, for all that, Mr. Moriarty doesn't need anyone to stand back of him.

In Old Verona

If tourists from the American continent can pass by with small notice the dubious, though beautiful and romantic tomb of Juliet, they will find much to occupy their time while visiting the interesting old Italian city of Verona. Centuries of art and history have combined to make this city, girt about by picturesque hills and encompassed by the murmuring Adige, one of the noblest.

The famous Arena and Roman theaters date back before the Christian era, and its prosperity under the overlordship of the Della Scala in the Middle Ages gave the city much of its architectural treasure. Noteworthy for artists is the varied scene in the Piazza della Erbe, and one should see the Della Scala tombs, the cathedral and St. Zeno.

Marine Death Trap

Bermuda's northeast breakers have witnessed many marine disasters, and are not far from Sea Venture flat, where Admiral Sir George Somers and his party of Virginia colonists were wrecked more than three centuries ago—a wreck that led to the colonization of the islands by the Virginia company.

The northeast breakers are part of the reef line that encircles Bermuda. When a ship strikes the reefs, she is not likely to slide off into deep water, for the reef barrier consists largely of a series of shoals close to the surface.

As Old as His Creed

The story is told of a young rector who, after a sermon on the divine character of the church, was approached by an elderly lady who said wrathfully: "How dare a boy like you talk to us in that manner!"

The young man, who still wore his surplice, drew himself up and replied with crushing dignity: "Madam, when I have this on I am 1,900 years old."—Boston Transcript.

MACFAYDEN IS PRIZE PUZZLE OF THE SEASON

His Debut In Yankee Uniform Casts Some Doubt On Value

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny MacFayden, the pride of Somerville, Mass., and the man for whom the Yankees made an important outlay of players and money last week, begins to shape up as the prize puzzle of the 1932 campaign.

He won 16 games and lost only 12 last season for the sixth place Boston Red Sox and came to be recognized as one of the game's greatest pitchers. Then he turned right around this year and lost 10 of his first efforts for the Sox.

The popular theory was that it didn't count, that MacFayden's defeats were chargeable to the offensive impotence and fielding weaknesses of his teammates.

But the transaction had an entirely different complexion today and there was even some doubt the Yankees had driven such a shrewd bargain after all.

Debut A Frost

MacFayden made his maiden appearance in a New York uniform yesterday against the Detroit Tigers and lasted only six innings as the Tigers scored a 5 to 4 victory. They pounded MacFayden for 11 hits and scored all their runs before he was relieved. It was the first game the Yankees had lost to a western team this season.

The loss reduced the Yankees' lead over Washington to five games, the Senators grasping the opportunity to defeat Chicago, 6 to 5, largely on errors by "Red" Kress and Bill Sullivan. Cleveland defeated Philadelphia, 9 to 8, in a slugging match, and knocked the Athletics from third place in the American League standing down to fifth.

George Blaeholder of the St. Louis Browns chalked up his seventh victory of the year as the Browns took their third straight from Boston, 2 to 1.

Hack Is Revenged

Hack Wilson was the day's fair-haired one in the National League as he clubbed Brooklyn to a 5 to 2 triumph over his former compatriots, the Chicago Cubs. His home run with the bases loaded and a single drove in all the Dodger runs.

The loss did not deprive Chicago of the leadership, however, as Boston was dropping its second in a row to the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 1. Bobby Brown, Braves' sensational rookies suffered his first defeat.

Melvin Ott's two home runs provided the Giants with another victory over Cincinnati, 3 to 2 and Pittsburgh bunched its blows to squeeze out a 4 to 3 decision over Philadelphia.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Word from Minnesota that the big-voiced Magnus Johnson, formerly United States Senator, is making a bid to return to Washington as a member of Congress was received with more than casual interest in the Capital.

Congressmen still remember the big Minnesota Farmer-Laborite and the time he served in the Senate.

If he succeeds in coming back in the next Congress, it will be as a member of the House and not the Senate. Minnesota has had some difficulty in redistricting the state and so nine Congressmen must be elected at large.

There are many candidates in the field for the nine jobs. And Magnus is one of them.

HE STOOD OUT— Johnson was a real sensation when he came to Washington back in 1923 to be sworn in as a Senator. He was something entirely new in the senatorial scheme of things—almost an object of curiosity.

With a voice capable of disturbing with the strongest ear drums, and affecting a style of dress that instantly set him apart as one of the masses, he was in a class by himself.

In the Senate he would thunder that a farm and labor revolt was near, instead that even an armed revolt was possible. He would belittle what Congress needed most was "horse sense."

He challenged a former Secretary of Agriculture to a milking contest and lost. He was hissed by a group of Philadelphia bankers on one occasion.

With a fiery temper, he believed in taking matters into his own hands when he thought he had been wronged.

BACK TO THE FARM— Johnson served only about two years in the Senate, having come up to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Knute Nelson. The blind Senator Schall defeated him in one of the bitterest campaigns and election contests in Senatorial history.

He went back to his farm near Kimball, Minnesota, and faded from the political picture.

Washington had all but forgotten him when he announced as a candidate-at-large for a set in the House.

Daily Health Talk

"The question has been frequently asked: 'How is it possible for one to have abscessed teeth for a comparatively long time, and not suffer any ill effects from them?' Indeed, this thought has been so generally considered that many people answer it to suit their own taste. And this frequently manifests itself in doing nothing about it if they have had teeth themselves," said Dr. L. W. Neber, Superintendent of the State Health Department's dental section, today.

"Arguing that, having abscessed teeth for several years and no apparent harm having come of them, they had better continue to play host to this condition, has caused many persons to disregard the dentist's advice regarding them even after X-ray proof has been offered of their existence. The point is that an abscessed tooth is a very dangerous enemy. It may be necessary to remove it immediately. Delay may result in a serious illness. It may even end in death.

To answer the question regarding the apparent harmlessness of some abscessed teeth over a period of time, it must be understood that the decomposition processes associated with the pulp (the blood vessels, nerves and membrane lining the inner surfaces of the roots) immediately invite bacteria. These organisms manufacture toxins. If general bodily health is good, the blood manufacturers neutralizers which it carries to all portions of the system, thus holding the damaging bacteria in check.

"The rule of 'checks and balances' is thus beautifully demonstrated. But in the end the demonstration will fail. And the price of the inexcusable neglect will be impaired health and perhaps death.

"Personal daily care and regular dental attention will save many a tooth from becoming abscessed in the first instance. But the point to be stressed is that if the dentist condemns a tooth because of an abscess at its root, have it extracted promptly. Run no chances with delay."

THE BACKBONE

Despite the fact that "backbone" has so many important connotations in the human language, a surprisingly small amount of study has been devoted to this important mainstay of the human framework.

Prof. Gorg Schmoll of Dresden recently made an important contribution to this subject, having studied some 7,000 whole spines.

He paid particular attention to the cartilaginous discs, placed between the bony elements of the spine, the vertebrae.

These discs render the spine mobile and at the same time defend it against excessive tension and twisting.

Of particular interest is the gelatinous inner portion of the intervertebral discs, the yielding character of which serves to equalize the pressure of the weight which the spine must sustain.

This distribution of pressure is a protective arrangement.

For it has been demonstrated that the growth of bone is much affected by the pressure brought to bear upon it, and, unless pressure is equally distributed over the whole surface of the vertebrae, the assumption of certain attitudes such as bending over books or being busy with some manual occupation might lead to a distortion of the spine.

This distortion does not happen in the spine of a healthy child, because the intervertebral discs are flexible and so distribute the pressure over the whole surface of the vertebrae uniformly.

With all this, deformities of the spine are fairly common.

Professor Schmoll believes that man's erect attitude is relatively recent in his evolution and the spine is still showing a reluctance to adapt itself to its altered position.

As a contribution to the prevention of deformities and diseases of the spine, he advises avoidance of any long maintained attitude either during work or play.

POLO—The Amity Society of the Presbyterian church held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Ray Hedrick yesterday. A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon.

The Polo Ministerial Association and their families held its annual picnic at the Pines Tuesday. Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Robison of Elizabeth were guests.

The remains of Mrs. Martha Whiting of Eureka, Ark. formerly of Polo, arrived in Polo Wednesday evening accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Clara Floyd and burial services were held at Fairmount cemetery Thursday morning.

ing at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Tait, of the Presbyterian church officiating. Mrs. Whiting was the widow of Dr. C. M. Whiting who practiced medicine in Polo and who passed away here in 1884.

Several from the local Legion Auxiliary will attend the district convention in Savannah Saturday June 11.

Rev. and Mrs. J. V. Bischoff who moved to Polo several weeks ago to succeed Rev. S. G. Eberly, pastor of the Evangelical church, will be reunited this week with their four sons, who are finishing the school year at their respective places.

The oldest two, John and Milton returned Tuesday from Naperville where they attended North Central college. Paul and Walter will complete the high school work for the year Friday at Belvidere. Paul is a member of the graduating class.

Melvin Hurdle was here from Algonia, Iowa, for the week end. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hurdle and son Don accompanied him back Sunday and then returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cofman attended the graduation of their son Glen at Carthage college Monday. Mrs. Paul Strite and daughter Aileen spent Tuesday evening and Wednesday in the Sanford home near Ashton.

Mercury has been known for at least 2500 years, but its wide use is a development of recent centuries.

Abraham Lincoln, had four sons: Robert Todd Lincoln, Edward Lincoln, William Lincoln and Thomas Lincoln.

Enjoy a REAL GRAPE DRINK

Switch Over Today.... Try the New NuGrape

At the very first sip, you are happily conscious of the miracle of it—the aroma, tang, sunny splendor of wide vineyards and the perfume of growing, ripening grapes! It is no mere echo—it is Reality—as if you had plucked a cluster of Concord grapes and were pressing their purple juice between your lips.

The New NuGrape is the liquid flavor of Concord—livened, given champagne-life by a secret process—it leaps and glistens in the glass with the glow of health. And how appetizing! What a zest it provides for other things. The most languid hours are brightened and made more endurable.

At grocers by the case for your home. At soft drink stands for the whims of your thirst any time, any where 3c.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome
by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. It really does live up to its reputation when it is said to 'relieve constipation.'"

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WEST BROOKLYN

By Henry Gehant

West Brooklyn — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sondergroth were here from Mendota Wednesday evening, visiting with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bieschke.

Roy Guffin is spending several days here at the home of his father, C. F. Guffin, whose recovery is rather slow.

The village aldermen held their regular meeting Monday evening at which time the graveling of the alley between Second and Third streets was voted upon favorably.

Ralph and Clarence Smith of Lee Center township were awarded the contract and started work on Thursday morning.

Willie Collins left for the Lutheran orphanage at Muscatine, Iowa, after spending the past three years here at the Walter Acker home. Willie has become pretty well attached to the younger folks about town and it is with regret that we see him leaving.

Josie Ziebarth is here from Aurora and is spending several days visiting at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jeanblanc.

The graduation exercises held at St. Mary's school hall Wednesday evening brought out a record attendance, who were all amply repaid for their presence. The musical numbers and the various grade classes were executed in admirable fashion. The class of graduates was as follows: Arthur Henkel, Genevieve Jeanblanc, Marie Mieschke, Esther Montavon, Leo Halbmaier, Francis Lipps, Margaret Boyle, George Montavon, Godfrey Halbmaier, Zella Koehler, Gilbert Gehant and Francis Long. Arthur Henkel was unable to accompany his class in the exercises because of a broken limb which will necessitate his remaining bed-fast for three months.

Theodore Vincent has installed a gas pump in front of his place of business, having installed the pumps formerly located at the Pine garage.

The windstorm of last Saturday evening did considerable damage in the locality and insurance adjusters were here several days paying for losses, among which was the demolishing of the Viola township machinery building together with the damaging of the power equipment contained therein.

Wilder Richardson was a business caller here from south of Compton Tuesday.

Tony Halbmaier had an oriole's nest in town one day this week exhibiting it to friends. The nest, which was a last year's model, was discovered by him while trimming some tall trees in his yard, and was quite a curiosity to many who had never seen one before.

Andrew and Leonard Delhotel were here from Inlet calling upon business friends Wednesday afternoon.

Florian Walter left for Batavia to start his duties as station agent in that city permanently. This is quite a promotion for him and while we are glad to see him get the position, we dislike losing the family from the community. Florian was active in public affairs and we will now be obliged to seek new men for the various positions which he held, such as village clerk, secretary of the Foresters and clerk of the local camp of Modern Woodmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Amel Henry motored to Dixon Tuesday where they visited with former neighbors.

Rev. Father Halbmaier was here from Maytown Wednesday evening and visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halbmaier.

The cheese factory is progressing rapidly and the manager hopes to get going full blast next Monday morning. The machinery arrived on Monday and crews of men have been working almost day and night to get the plant in operation. The twelve truck drivers held a meeting at the operation house and routes were laid out which will provide some 30,000 pounds of milk right at the start. The plant will employ four men and a lady book-keeper and will be a big thing for the community.

Mr. Umland wants to meet all the people in the community and assures them that the very highest consistent prices will be paid.

The directors of the farmers' elevator held their regular monthly meeting Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walter were here from Scarborough Sunday calling upon friends. We were sorry to hear that Ed had since been confined to the hospital for an appendicitis operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McCoy were here from Aurora while Den-

Giant Coast Defense Guns Head for Scrap Pile

Seventeen giant U. S. coast artillery guns discarded by the government and collected from eastern seaboard fortresses are pictured above in the railroad yards of Columbus, O. en route to steel mills at Weirton, W. Va. where they will be scrapped. Each gun, including its truck, weighs 272 tons. Railroad officials planned to place six gondolas between guns to prevent overloading on bridges. Built on wheels for quick transportation over regular railroad systems, each gun is as long as three ordinary freight cars.

nis is taking a vacation from his duties as city mail carrier, and are visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Merschen were here from near Franklin Grove the middle of the week and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chohan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Biggart were here from Dixon over Sunday and visited with her mother, Mrs. Mary Graf.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Burkardt were here from Sublette Wednesday day and spent the day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Michael.

Otto Krenz and Miss Mary Danekas were in Mendota Wednesday evening and visited with friends.

Fintan Gehant was here from Aurora several days the past week and visited with friends and relatives here and at Sublette.

The many friends of Mrs. John Erbes were much pleased Thursday when she was able again to be about town. This was her first visit in several months, and even though still unable to get out of the car, she appreciated being able to get away from home.

Mrs. Josie Slack returned to her home at Rockford the latter part of the week after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Kate Tressler.

William Kirk was here from Amboy Wednesday and called upon his many friends and former neighbors.

John R. Oester, William Auchstetter, H. Gehant, Joseph Bauer, Louis Chaon, and Gust Gehant motored to Dixon Monday night, where they represented Brooklyn, Lee Center and Viola townships at the Taxpayers Association meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Thompson are here from the southern part of the state and are visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson.

Mrs. Kate Chaon is spending a week at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glaser near Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. George Koehler, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Michel, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoerber and Fred A. Koehler motored to Dixon Monday where they attended the court proceedings which marked the reading of the will of the late Andrew Becker of which they are named as some of the beneficiaries.

Miss Gladys Politich, returned to her home near Paw Paw Saturday after successfully completing her school year as teacher at the Mossman school. Miss Politich has been teacher at this school for some years and it is with pleasure that we see her services retained again for next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Wigum were here from Aurora Sunday and visited at the home of her mother Mrs. Rosa Oester.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Montavon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maier, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Maier, Frank and Mathew, Maier motored to Amboy Monday where they attended the funeral services of the late Frank McCaffery, Sr.

Mrs. Ted Helbig was here from Sublette Wednesday and visited with friends.

Miss Geneva White was here from Milwaukee over Sunday and visited with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. White.

Mr. and Mrs. William Auchstetter and Mrs. Stanley Sherman and Miss Onida Irwin were in Rockford Saturday visiting with friends.

Herbert Miller was a business caller in Paw Paw Thursday.

Theodore Staibil was here from East Inlet Monday calling upon friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Henry were here from Mendota and called on his parents, Wednesday. They like their new positions as proprietors of Tumble Inn first rate, and say that tourist business is getting better each week.

ATTA DOG, HERBIE

Columbus, O.—A burglar who broke into the home of Chester Cahill, an the wrong way, on entering the house, he met "Herbie", pet bulldog of the family. Herbie gave chase and the burglar, instead of running out of the house, dashed up the stairs into the room of Mrs. Cahill. When he saw her he dashed back down the stairs right into the jaws of the dog. The dog dashed after the burglar and was missing for half an hour before he returned with a satisfied look on his face.

LOVED THEIR HOME

Houston, Tex.—Someone left the pigeon house door open and 150 of the birds belonging to City Tax attorney Louis Dunn flew out. They made no effort to escape. A strong wind blew up, however, and drove the birds away despite their struggles. Dunn thought he had lost his pigeons, but the following morning they were back in their home, all bedraggled, and weary. Dunn explained that they had walked home after giving up flying against the strong wind. Their feet were nearly raw.

IF IT WERE POSSIBLE FOR A BIRD TO FLY AT THE RATE LIGHT TRAVELS (186,300 MILES PER SECOND) AND IT WERE POSSIBLE TO SHOOT IT DEAD AS IT FLEW ALONG JUST 16 FEET ABOVE THE GROUND, THE BIRD WOULD PASS SEVEN AND A HALF TIMES AROUND THE EARTH BEFORE IT STRUCK THE GROUND.

(A BODY UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF GRAVITY FALLS SIXTEEN FEET DURING THE FIRST SECOND.)

EVERY YEAR A GUESSING POOL IS MADE UP AND EACH CONTRIBUTOR REGISTERS HIS GUESS AS TO THE EXACT DAY, HOUR, AND MINUTE THE SPRING THAW WILL SET IN ON TANANA RIVER. ... THE WINNER'S SHARE RUNS WELL INTO THE THOUSANDS. ... China is the home of the goldfish, and it was there that the first experimental work in their cultivation was begun. The Chinese, a race noted for its creation of decorative ornaments, found the goldfish particularly adaptable to their fanciful forms of art. They succeeded in changing a fish of olive-green color and commonplace form to one of myriad shades and shapes. The Japanese took up the work in later years and now the goldfish is known the world over. Goldfish were first brought into the United States about 1878.

Tax Problems In This State

By M. H. HUNTER

University of Illinois

41. Tax Delinquency and Sales

What will happen if you do not pay your taxes? That is a question about which a good many of us are concerned right now. Personal taxes and the first installment of property taxes were supposed to be paid by May 1—yet a good many of them are not paid. What will happen?

Unpaid taxes are considered delinquent and a penalty of 1 per cent is added if paid within a month. At the beginning of another month another per cent is added, etc. As a last resort, property may be sold for taxes, but this can happen only after it has been advertised for sale and a personal notice has been sent to the owner.

Until time of sale, however, the owner may pay the tax plus penalties, etc. and prevent the sale.

If taxes are not paid before the time announced for sale the collector is required to offer the tract for sale. The person who offers to pay the amount due for the least percentage penalty thereon shall be considered the purchaser. The law specifies that no bid shall be accepted for more than 12 per cent penalty on the amount due.

Thus if $500 were due, and some individual bid to carry this for 10 per cent, and there were no lower bid, he would be declared the purchaser.

To purchase land at a tax sale

does not immediately give title.

The delinquent owner has two years in which to redeem his property. At any time within 6 months from the date of sale, he may redeem by paying the amount due plus the penalty bid; between 6 months and 1 year by paying the amount due plus twice the amount of penalty; between 1 year and 18 months he must add three times

the amount of the penalty and between 18 months and 2 years four times the amount of the penalty. At the end of two years after sale, if redemption has not been made, the purchaser is given a deed to the property.

Of course, no one may bid on the property. In such case the taxes continue to be carried as delinquent for the two year redemption period at the end of which the title to the property passes to the state. In some states large areas are thus passing back to the government, while it is also happening in some cases in Illinois.

CHERRY DIXON, 19 and pretty falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS,

a wealthy, aristocratic young man who forbids her to see him.

Her father discovers this and threatens to send her to California. Cherry defies him and resolves to see him.

She goes to Dan, tells him what has happened and asks him to marry her. The ceremony is performed that night by a justice of peace. Next day Cherry makes some purchases on a charge account but returns them when her former maid comes to see her and promises to send her clothes.

Cherry looks for an apartment

but is discouraged to find them so expensive. Dan telephones her and tells her to wait. He tells

Cherry that TONY TOSCAILLI, gambler, is expected and that he is waiting with officers who intend to arrest TOSCAILLI.

Cherry meets JARVIS HEN-

DRICKS, reporter on a rival newspaper, and unconsciously tells him about Toscailli.

CHAPTER XV

It was almost midnight when Dan came. "Hello," he said as he paused on the porch. "Thought you'd be asleep."

The only light in the room came from the lamp on the table, casting white light in a circle of a dozen feet and leaving the rest in darkness. Cherry sat in the big chair half obscured by shadows. She sprang up.

"Oh, I'm so glad you've come! Is everything all right? I thought you'd never get here. I've been so worried, Dan!"

She slipped her arms about him and clung to him for an instant and then released him. He looked at her for a moment and then raised his hand to her cheek. "You're looking tired," he said. "I'm tired, too," she said. "I've been waiting for you. I've been so worried about you. I've been so worried about you. I've been so

DEMOCRATS TO FURNISH FIGHT OF CONVENTIONS

Their Battles To Over-shadow Any Scrap Of Republicans

Washington, June 10—(AP)—However pugnacious next week's Republican national convention may become over prohibition, it seems increasingly evident that the real 1932 award for sustained and hard-hitting in-fighting will be won by the Democrats when they get together during the last week of June.

Not only is there to be a last-ditch battle over the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, but a first-ditch combat of real proportions now is assured over the convention chairmanship, and it is easy to foresee plenty of excitement in between.

For the first time, the developments of the present week have seen the Roosevelt-and Republican split set before the decision to oppose Jettie Shouse for Permanent Chairman the Roosevelt managers raised an issue which the opposition shows every sign of meeting directly.

There even are reports that they will put up a candidate against the Roosevelt-pledged Senator Barkley of Kentucky for Temporary Chairman. They may not go that far, but there is no question that the Roosevelt move to put Senator Walsh of Montana into the place for which Shouse was slated has been accepted by many on the other side as a definite attempt to read the whole Smith-Raskob-Shouse influence out of the convention picture, and that does not set well at all with Roosevelt's enemies.

Decision A Surprise
The decision to oppose Shouse surprised most politicians. Up to now, the Roosevelt strategy has been almost wholly conciliatory. When Al Smith made his celebrated thrust at "demagogues," the reply was softly-worded. When Shouse was "commended" by the Arrangements committee for chairing the streets, it was interpreted widely as a Roosevelt gesture of recognition toward that wing of the party which was opposing him.

On Sunday last, without the slightest publicity, a conference of leaders assembled at the Governor's home at Hyde Park. Five Senators and nine members of the House had been summoned to the Washington to meet with the local Roosevelt men. On the spacious lawn they gathered in a group about the Governor, and the withdrawal from Shouse was only one of the results. Several things yet to be disclosed were decided. A floor manager was picked, but his identity is kept in confidence.

Militant Decisions
The decisions were militant decisions, presumably based on the assumption that the Roosevelt strength now had risen past a controlling majority of the convention and that the time had come, therefore, to take complete possession of the party machinery. It is doubtful how far any specific consideration, such as the possible ruling of the convention chairman of the two-thirds rule, entered into the calculations. The big idea seems to have been to be sure there was a friend at every snaky point.

Shouse's retort, asking the country to make up its own mind whether the Governor had been guilty of bad faith, apparently has had no retarding effect, so far as the Roosevelt people are concerned. Smith and those who conferred with him later in the week unhesitatingly gave their support to Shouse. It is not yet apparent that the favorite son states will do, although James M. Cox of Ohio and Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago yesterday denounced the fight on Shouse, Cermak saying he would propose Senator Lewis for the Permanent Chairmanship if the Rooseveltians persist.

Claims Disputed
The claims of the Roosevelt managers, some of them disputed, now forecast a first-ballot vote of nearly 700 out of the 1154 in the convention, counting Florida and Mississippi, which chose their delegates this week, and Idaho, North Carolina and Indiana, yet to come. It takes 770 to nominate.

With Virginia's ringing endorsement of former Governor Harry F. Byrd yesterday, the field of favorite sons and runners-up appears complete. Most calculations sum up the non-Roosevelt strength like this:

Alfred E. Smith 94, not counting votes claimed in New York and Pennsylvania; John N. Garner 90; James Hamilton Lewis 58; George White 52; James A. Reed 36; Harry F. Byrd 24; William H. Murray 23; Albert C. Ritchie 16.

TAMMANY WARNED
New York, June 10—(AP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign manager has issued what newspapers here interpret as a warning to Tammany Hall that Roosevelt can win the presidency without Tammany support.

So far Tammany has not declared for Roosevelt. Its chief city office holder, Mayor James J. Walker, is under fire, and the decision whether to remove him or clear him rests with the Governor. What effect if any, the Walker case will have on Tammany's choice for the presidency has been an object of much political conjecture.

James A. Farley, Democratic State Chairman who is managing the Roosevelt campaign, predicted last night that Roosevelt would be nominated on the first ballot at Chicago and would win not less than 345 of the 531 electoral votes at the election.

FOR EX-GOV. BYRD
Richmond, Va., June 10—(AP)—Virginia's 24 votes at the national Democratic convention will be cast for Harry Flood Byrd and his plan for a prohibition referendum will be commended to the national gathering for favorable consideration.

The state convention yesterday expressed its approval of the candidacy of the former Governor.

Recommendation of his plan for giving the people an opportunity to express directly themselves on the wet-dry question followed spirited debate.

PAPERS FOR SMITH
New York, June 10—(AP)—Roy W. Howard, Chairman of the Board of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, announced that all Scripps-Howard newspapers were publishing today an editorial entitled "Give Us Smith," in favor of Alfred E. Smith for president.

OBITUARY

Patrick H. McCaffrey, son of C. H. McCaffrey, was born in Marion township, Lee county, Illinois, September 9, 1863 and passed on to the beyond very suddenly early Thursday morning June 2, 1932. For the most of his life he carried on very successfully the vocation of farming in Marion township and was 68 years, eight months and 23 days of age. His wife, Elizabeth McNauley McCaffrey preceded him in death December 10, 1918, and one daughter, Miss Jeanette also passed on to the beyond on June 24, 1930. Mr. McCaffrey is survived by a family of eight children, two daughters, Mrs. Blanche Healy of Harmon and Mrs. Marie Taser of Riverside, Cal., six sons, Eugene P. Joseph T. Paul J., Frank and Bernard C., of Marion township and George J. McCaffrey of San Diego, Cal., and nine grandchildren. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Shaw and Mrs. Margaret McGuirk together with many other nephews and nieces and other more distant relatives and hosts of friends who deplore his passing and sympathize deeply with the family.

Funeral services were held from the home on Monday morning June 6, 1932 at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 from St. Mary's Catholic church at Walton, Rev. Fr. Driscoll officiating and interment was in the family lot at St. Patrick's cemetery west of Amboy. The casket carriers were from amongst his old friends and neighbors and were: Martin Whalen, Peter Campbell, Michael J. Fielding, Thomas Halligan, John Blackburn and Hugh Sweeney. The final services were very largely attended, a silent testimony to his memory and showing the high esteem in which Mr. McCaffrey was held in the vicinity in which he resided for a long period of years.

Flag Day Fete At Glenwood's School

The thirty-sixth Annual Competitive Military Drill and Flag Day Exercises will be held Saturday at 1 P. M. daylight-saving time, on the school campus at Glenwood, Illinois.

Officers of the 6th Corps Area R. O. T. C. will judge the drill, and prizes, consisting of an American flag for the winning Cottage Company; a U. S. sabre for its captain; and a baseball outfit, tennis and basketball set respectively for companies winning second, third and fourth places, will be presented by President N. C. Nather. These awards are provided from the Walter Scott Award of Merit Fund.

A feature of the program will be the presentation of a rock garden and fountain, commemorating the 10th anniversary of the U. S. I. Club, by Robert Johnson, club president.

Glenwood Manual Training School was founded in 1887 for the purpose of caring for dependent and under privileged boys of the State of Illinois. Between 300 and 350 boys are at present in attendance. The school is largely supported by endowment income and popular subscription, a number of our local citizens being contributors to its upkeep.

Invitations for Flag Day Exercises were issued today to patrons and the public likewise is cordially invited to attend.

"BOYS IN BLUE" RETURNED HOME FROM MEETING

Annual Department Encampment Came To Close Today

Joliet, Ill., June 10—(AP)—The last memories of Sherman's march to the sea and Lee's surrender to Grant have been revived and the last of the Illinois Civil War veterans returned home today with the closing of the 1932 encampment of the Illinois Department of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Yesterday, the veterans, only 92 able to march, paraded proudly with drums snaring and bugles shrilling martial airs, through the streets of Joliet. Last night nearly 400 of them gathered at a banquet which formally closed the encampment and saw installation of new officers.

The man that gave the incoming president's address at that banquet was also the oldest veteran at the rally. For Wednesday the "Boys in Blue" elected 93-year old H. B. First of Rock Island their commander for 1933. Island's other officers to assume their posts were William O'Callahan, 91, Joliet, Senior Vice Commander, and George A. Robinson of Belvidere, Junior Vice Commander, who was elected yesterday in an extra ballot resulting from a tie the day before with William H. Hode of Decatur.

Selection of the 1933 encampment site was left to the officers although Quincy had bid for it. The place will be announced later.

Auxiliaries Elect
The G. A. R. Auxiliaries, which held their annual meetings in conjunction with the veterans' encampment, also elected their officers yesterday.

Those who were chosen follow:
Mrs. Bertha Beier, Chicago, President;
Miss Litta Larr, Streator, Senior Vice President;
Mrs. Violet McConnell, Chicago, Junior Vice President;
Mrs. Florence Burton, East St. Louis, Chaplain;
Mrs. Jessie Anson, Chicago, Treasurer; Mrs. Madge Weeks, Ottawa, Patriotic Instructor;
Mrs. Genola Sill, Chicago, Mrs. Ida Riley, Ottawa and Mrs. Golda Oldt, Aurora, Council Members.

The Women's Relief Corps elected the following:
Laura Dean Sobby, Chicago President;
Laura Schryner, Springfield, Senior Vice President;
Katherine Bronnekan, Junior Vice President;
Zola Miller Dobahue, Jacksonville, Treasurer;
Alice Moberly, Farmer City, Chaplain.

The youngest Civil War survivor present at the encampment was L. D. Rose, 82, of Streator, who as a drummer boy, served with the 15th Illinois Infantry under Gen. U. S. Grant. The 15th Infantry was one of the first regiments to leave the state. Drummer Rowe enlisted at Waukegan.

GOVERNMENTS PROTEST ACTS CHILE REGIME

Confiscation Order Brings Reaction From Abroad

Santiago, Chile, June 10—(AP)—Representatives of foreign governments, including the United States, filed their first protests today against the acts of the new Socialist regime under Provisional President Carlos Davila.

Members of the diplomatic corps submitted individual written objections to the junta against its order confiscating all foreign currency deposits in Chilean banks and providing for repayment to the foreign depositors in pesos, now valued on foreign exchange schedules at only 6 cents.

Although the new government has not yet set a value on the peso, street quotations have run as low as 2 1/2 to 3 cents.

United States Ambassador William S. Culbertson presented the first of the protests in behalf of the National City Bank of New York, although he said he had not yet been requested to do so.

The confiscation decree is not yet effective, and the diplomats expressed the opinion it would be modified or annulled. They informed the members of the junta that it might cause a reaction abroad. No estimate was made of the amount of deposits which would be affected by the decree.

TEACHERS WILL STAGE SHOW TO CARE FOR NEEDY

"School Scandals" To Be Presented This Eve In Chicago

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—Geometry teachers doing toe-dances, staid English instructors singing popular songs, other pedagogues whistling "for their pay," still others wise cracking.

That's a cross section of the program of "School Scandals of 1932" which will be staged and enacted tonight by 100 members of the Chicago Teachers' Federation to raise funds to help needy teachers. Salaries are now five months in arrears despite occasional partial pay checks.

The downtown theater on Michigan Boulevard where the show is to have a one-night stand, has been sold out, and the Federation estimated that it would clear about $2500.

If the Board of Education and the city officials want to see themselves as the teachers see them, they can—for the price of a ticket—view a comic operetta entitled "Bored of Education—A Silbert and Sullivan Survival—if we do."

This operetta, which is the main feature, was written by Miss Anna T. Mullivan of Crane high school. It shows the teachers standing in a long line outside the board room.

In musical comedy fashion there are interludes of wise cracking, dances and songs such as "Kick, Sister, Kick" and "Pay Days That Bloom in the Spring" to the tune of "Flowers That Bloom in the Spring."

In the next scene the Board of Education is wrangling with the budget, which won't balance, and the Superintendent sings a song of economy, recommending that the board trim this and that until all that is left is the elementary teacher—"and I don't think she'd be missed," she sings.

In one dance number the teachers are costumed to resemble tax anticipation warrants and scrip, both of which have been used as pay substitutes.

Miss Mary Abbe, President of the Federation, which has a membership of 7000 teachers out of 13,000.

A BOOK A DAY

WON $20,000 BY BETS ON FALL OF RAIN DROPS

John W. Gates was the best barbed-wire salesman that ever hit Texas—and, incidentally, one of the best poker players.

He was such a good salesman that he was largely responsible for the fencing in of the great open ranges, and such a devoted poker player that presently he tired of being a salesman and decided to go into business for himself and gamble with his wits instead of with poker chips.

So, by degrees, he became a rich industrialist, and then he went to Wall Street to see what he could do there.

"Bet-a-Million Gates" by Robert Irving Warshaw, is a biography of the man, and it is an entertaining book.

Gates, as you probably know, came by that nickname honestly. Once, Mr. Warshaw tells, Gates and his partner were riding to Pittsburgh by train on a rainy day. Gates started betting which rain drop would run down the window pane to the sill first—at $1000 a rain drop. He was $20,000 ahead when they got to Pittsburgh.

As a Wall Street operator, he was strictly a gambler. Again and again he rolled up a vast fortune, and again and again a large part of it melted away. Finally, in 1907, he burnt his fingers badly, retired from the street and devoted himself thenceforth to a less exciting career as an industrialist.

Mr. Warshaw is a rather uncritical biographer, but his book does show what a gamblers game stock speculation is and what an utterly useless part a big speculative plays in his country's life.

Five muskrats were introduced into Europe from North America in 1905. Today there are more than 100,000,000 on the Continent.
